

An urban Shangri-La - This is the view from the back deck of the private, multi-chambered back yard that includes the brightly sun lighted clearing in the distance.

The picturesque old, very old, garage could be a workshop or studio. It is being sold as is. The driveway is shared with the Pullentown house next door.

Upstairs is bright and elegant.

The three upstairs bedrooms each include two over 6 windows and decorative fireplaces.

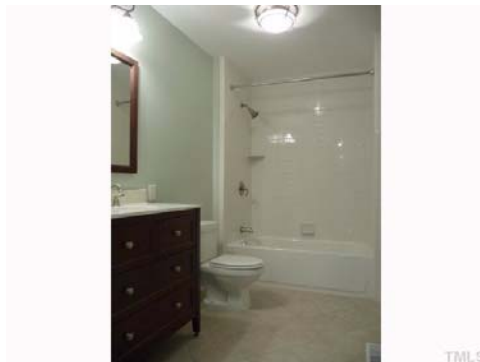

The true master bedroom suite includes a bath and closets added in what had been a fourth upstairs bedroom.

The new double vanity, closet wall and shower (pictured below) were added in 2011.

The second full bath upstairs remodeled in 2011.

The first floor full bath, virtually new in 2011, could become part of a 1st floor master or in-law suite by removing the false wall covering a connecting door.

The grotto-like lower level has been home to many parties, including monthly Oakwood neighborhood pot-luck suppers. Heated and cooled, this is a versatile space with window on three sides.
