

The Walter Clark House, c.1895 is located on one of the most scenic corners in Raleigh. Gregory Peck and Lauren Bacall made a TV movie across the street in the 1990's.

Designated as a Capital Tree, this magnificent Oak shades the Queen Anne style home that has a carved sunburst in the porch gable, and alternating bands of scalloped and rectangular slate roofing shingles.

A deck overlooks the terraced and semi-private side yard that could become a Georgetown patio/garden or left as is for badminton and croquet.

The recently modern kitchen opens to the sun room leading to the deck on the left side of the house. OFF STREET PARKING is steps away from the kitchen and an office/studio/guest room on the right side.

The elegant 17 ft long entrance hall opens to the parlor, living and dining rooms, and leads through the columns to a 1st floor master bedroom, all greater than 16x16 ft in size.

Contemporary, Victorian, whatever your decorating style - all can handsomely compliment and be complimented by the classical architecture and ample spaces of this extraordinary home.

The parlor, aka library and family room, has one of the 7 handsome fireplaces. The living room has gas logs, the other 6 are decorative. Original four panel doors have been retained and restored throughout the house.

The south facing bay window catches the sun throughout the day in the living room that opens to the hall through original pocket doors.

Perfectly located for formal dinner or buffet suppers, the formal 16.8x16.3 ft dining room includes built-in cupboards.
