Bungalow heaven. Walk or bike to the nearby Oakwood dog park and the new shops and restaurants at The Seaboard Station.

Completely rebuilt in and out by the relocating owners/architects Jeremy and Donna Ficca, this home blends Bungalow old and with contemporary new.

Virtually all the siding is new German shiplapped pine. All walls, HVAC, electrical wiring and insulation are new.

Bright and open understates the view from the front door looking back to the grassy back yard. The fireplace is decorative but could be lined.

Built-in Birch cabinets and shelves have been added throughout the house.

A cantilevered butcher block counter separates the new kitchen from the sun/breakfast room. A sliding door provides access to the utility room.

The versatile floor plan includes an office/den that could serve as a guest room.

Recessed floor to ceiling pantry cabinets line the kitchen wall (to the left above).

A concrete drive leads to the landscaped back yard fenced on three sides. Ready for kids of all ages.

Both bedrooms have built-in Birch cabinets. The bright new tile bath has a tub/shower and two sinks.
