Designed by Aaron Allred for Burnie Batchelor and his family in 1954, this is the family home of David Bills, Carol Dullmeyer and their three children who are moving to Seattle. David has honored the integrity of the architecture and the site as he has made improvements that include a completely new kitchen, new and refinished hardwood floors, new carpet, and a third full bath in the newly finished lower level. The versatile floor plan could easily be configured so that the office on the lower level could become a 4th bedroom that is also 2nd master suite.

The Cameron Village Subdivision is a quiet family neighborhood tucked away in the middle of an urban setting. It is short walk to the main branch of Public Library, NC State, St. Mary's School, Broughton HS, two city parks and the shops at Cameron Village.

An experienced builder and coastal ecologist from Berkeley, CA, Debra understands houses and the qualities of inspired design. She uniquely works with sellers to market their special properties and to assist buyers with all aspects of transforming a house into a home.
